

BIBLICAL GARDENS TALK

Presented By Linda Hochman

May 5th 2:00-4:00 pm

Temple B'rith Shalom

In Israel and around the world there is a fascination with recreating gardens containing the plants cited in the Bible. Many of the plants we consider common in contemporary landscapes and food production today originated from biblical passages.

This presentation will offer a look into what are some of the plants, where they grew and what they represent. We will concentrate on plants from the Old Testament. Interestingly, many of these plants grow in the Prescott area as well as the greater Phoenix valley. You may want to consider planting a biblical garden in your own yard! You may already have a start!

Linda Hochman is a Horticulturalist and a Master Gardener in Yavapai and Maricopa County. She is the former curator of two Biblical Gardens in the Phoenix area. Originally from the Pacific Northwest she owned and operated two nursery farms growing commercial landscape stock as well as organic fruits and vegetables for market.
